Letter from the Executive Director

Dear Friends and Supporters,

As you are aware, the goal of A Child's Voice Child Advocacy Center, Inc. is to provide a coordinated community response to child abuse. A Child's Voice Child Advocacy Center, Inc. is a child-centered facility whose focus is to support and protect children and their involved caregivers, while coordinating the community response to abuse. We strive to enhance the response to suspected child abuse cases by combining the wisdom and professional knowledge of various investigative agencies and other professional organizations. These coordinated efforts provide the knowledge, skills, and resources necessary to assist suspected victims of child abuse as well as their families.

In 2018, A Child's Voice continued to work with community partners to effectively and compassionately respond to incidents of child abuse in our community. With our presence in the community, the network of partner organizations continues to grow in responding to the child victims of abuse. We were able to expand our support of the child victims and family through the community support we received through donations and contributions; as well as, community foundations and grants.

Since serving our first family in May of 2009, our staff has shown dedication and commitment to providing the best services possible to the children of Newton and Walton counties. Our center continues to maintain full state accreditation with the Children's Advocacy Centers of Georgia (CACGA) and remains one of only 50 fully accredited centers in the state of Georgia. We are also one of only 33 of those child advocacy centers (CACs) in Georgia accredited by both the CACGA as well as the National Children's Alliance (NCA). These accreditations assert that our center is financially sound and that our services are provided in a professional and standardized manner by appropriately trained staff of the highest quality.

We continue to partner with the National Children's Alliance in conducting a satisfaction survey with the families we serve and our MDT partners. The Outcome Measurement System (OMS) is a powerful evaluation tool that allows CACs to critically examine their performance and identify areas for continuous improvement by anonymous surveys sent to child victims, their families, and partner agencies. We are one of the highest rated child advocacy centers in Georgia.

The role of A Child's Voice Child Advocacy Center throughout the criminal investigation is to focus on the child's needs rather than focusing on the crime itself. The forensic interview process is also child-led and child-driven. After completing a forensic interview with a specially trained interviewer, three out of four elementary aged children are relaxed enough to continue talking about non-abusive topics and continue to engage with interviewers. The adolescent age group often describes a feeling of "relief" and a "weight off of my shoulders" after the interview experience. When observing the body language of these teens, one can see a physical transformation take place from the beginning of the interview compared to the end of the interview. Healing begins for these children when the forensic interview ends. The child victim is offered a medical examination, during which the child is in control of the examination process and can choose to stop the examination at any time. A Family Advocate is available to provide support and answer any questions the child or family may have. The Family Advocate accompanies the child during the medical examination and also discusses concerns with the parents while the interview is in process. Family Advocates make referrals to counselors and community resources and will follow the case as long as the family requests our assistance.

Our center also offers training to adults in our community regarding child abuse, how to look for signs and how they should respond if a child discloses abuse. We want the community to know we are here to assist in any issues regarding child abuse and our services are free to victims of child abuse. In 2018 we were established as a chapter of Prevent Child Abuse Georgia as Prevent Child Abuse Walton and continue to partner with Prevent Child Abuse Newton in awareness activities.

I would like to thank all of the agencies that partner with us for their dedication to the children in our community and their commitment to the prevention and intervention of child abuse. We are also appreciative of the many community members who have provided the support our center needs to achieve our mission each year. We thank you all for joining us in the fight for happy, healthy childhoods and for helping us ensure that every child has a voice. We look forward to expanding our existing services in 2019 as we continue to work towards our vision of ending child abuse through a coordinated community response: Healing Today's Children – Protecting Tomorrow's.

Sincerely Yours,

Nancy S. Burgess

Letter from the Chairman of the Board

Dear Supporters,

Thank you for your interest in A Child's Voice Child Advocacy Center. It is your support that allows our non-profit center to provide quality care and services to children and families during what must be a frightening and emotional time for all involved. It is our center's purpose to coordinate the responses of the Law Enforcement Agencies, Department of Family and Children's Services and the District Attorney's office in a child-friendly environment with specially trained staff.

Reading the statistics within this annual report of reported child abuse within your community can be depressing. However, those numbers are more than just reports of crime. Each number is a child helped and a family educated. The numbers represent children whose stories have been heard and who, along with their family have been referred for counseling. I am proud of the role our center plays in serving each of those reported cases.

We are in a beautiful, well-equipped, child friendly center but without our staff it is simply a building. It is our extremely well-trained team that provides the interviews, medical exams and family advocacy that serve these victims. On behalf of the Board of Directors, I thank each one of them for their collective contributions to this purpose.

I also thank the extremely dedicated members of the Board of Directors that put so much work into making sure that the staff has the tools and facilities to do what they are trained to do so well.

Sincerely,

Holly's Story

Holly had a secret – one that made her feel sad and ashamed. It all started when Holly's grandpa moved in with her family after her grandma passed away. Because money was tight, Holly's grandpa would watch her after school instead of her usual babysitter. Holly loved her grandpa and liked it when he babysat her, because he would play games with her. This was when the sad part happened. Holly was sexually molested by her grandpa for nine months before she finally revealed her terrible secret. Holly was at school one day when the child advocate from the local Children's Advocacy Center spoke to her class about child sexual abuse. She told the children that it was not okay for anyone to ever touch them in a way that made them feel bad or sad. Holly knew immediately this was what Grandpa was doing. Holly found the courage to tell her teacher, who promptly called the local Department of Family and Children Services Child Protection Services to report Holly's story.

The next day, Holly and her mother went to A Child's Voice Child Advocacy Center, Inc. They were both nervous and didn't know what to expect because Holly would be talking about a horrible personal experience. After the tour and talking with the Family Advocate in the center, she began to feel more comfortable. In the waiting area she played with toys and began to relax. She even got to watch a movie.

After a few minutes, a trained forensic interviewer met with Holly and her mother. The interviewer asked Holly if they could talk. After getting to know Holly, the forensic interviewer slowly began asking Holly about why she was there. It was hard for Holly to talk about the things her grandpa had done to her for so long. The Child Protective Services worker and the law enforcement officer watched the interview from another room, and the interview was videotaped so that Holly would not have to recount the painful details over and over again. Holly described how her grandpa began tickling her but eventually began touching her and doing much worse, hurtful things.

During the interview, Holly's mom sat anxiously in the waiting room with a Family Advocate. She had trouble believing that Holly's grandpa was capable of hurting Holly. But as they talked, Holly's mom began to remember all the times that Holly had always wanted to go over to a friend's house after school. She remembered how her daughter used to be fun-loving and active, yet, now she was frequently withdrawn and sad. Eventually, she too was able to talk about her anger, grief and feelings of betrayal.

After the interview, the Child Protection Services worker, the forensic interviewer and the law enforcement officer talked with Holly's mom and realized she would be supportive of her and keep her safe. Holly had a medical examination by a SANE in the center and, with the use of telemedicine equipment, a physician with Children's Healthcare of Atlanta, who was able to relieve some of Holly's greatest fears about her body. Holly's mother was also able to speak with the physician and the nurse in order to answer any questions she might need to address.

As Holly was receiving the medical examination, the team met quickly to review their notes. It was obvious that grandpa had not only abused Holly but had taken many pictures of her that the team suspected he had uploaded to pornographic sites. The police detectives immediately secured a search warrant and seized his computer, which contained many pornographic images of Holly and other girls in addition to home videos and other evidence. He was arrested and interviewed by a detective trained to interview child abusers.

During the next six months, Holly and her mother participated in therapy to help them deal with the trauma and turmoil created by the abuse. The multi-disciplinary team, consisting of Child Protective Services, law enforcement, the District Attorney's office, counselors, and the forensic interviewer, continued to meet to coordinate the investigation and monitor the family's need for support. Eventually, Holly's case was presented to the Grand Jury, who voted to indict. The case was taken to trial and her grandpa was sentenced to 45 years in prison for abusing Holly and two other neighborhood girls.

Words from families we've worked with...

“The staff was very attentive, patient, and sympathetic to our concerns.”

“I really appreciated how welcomed and safe they made my child feel. Amazing staff all the way around. Couldn't have asked for a better experience, considering the circumstances.”

“Thank you so much for promptly helping me and (my child) through these tough times. We love you. God bless you all. Thank you so much over and over.”

“After a very difficult time, we finally felt like we had a team of support on our side.”

“They listened and gave me wonderful advice to help both of us get through this terrible situation.”

“We are so grateful for the way that everyone at A Child's Voice CAC cared for each of us during this time of family crisis.”

“A Child's Voice CAC is an instrumental part of ensuring the children of Newton and Walton Counties receive the services they need after a traumatic event. Not only do they provide quality forensic and medical exams for children who are victims of sexual or physical abuse, they also ensure that these children receive the follow-up services that are so crucial to the healing process. A Child's Voice CAC works closely with community partners, such as DFCS, Law Enforcement, and various mental health providers to ensure that abused children receive all the follow-up that they need. A Child's Voice also leads monthly Multi-disciplinary Team Meetings to ensure that everything that needs to occur legally and therapeutically for these abused children takes place. They are a great asset to both counties and the many families that rely on their services.”

About

Mission Statement

A Child's Voice exists to strengthen a coordinated community response to situations of child maltreatment, including sexual abuse, physical abuse, and witness to abuse and homicide, by integrating the existing resources of law enforcement, child protection, prosecution, medical, and therapeutic agencies, so that perpetrators are held accountable for their actions and the children are protected. A Child's Voice also exists to facilitate and support organizations and individuals whose efforts are directed toward child abuse and prevention.

What Is A Child Advocacy Center (CAC)?

The purpose of a CAC is to provide a child-friendly environment where forensic interviews and medical examinations can be performed in order to assist law enforcement officers and child protective services workers in completing their investigations. This helps to ensure that the child can be protected, the guilty are prosecuted, and the innocent are not wrongly charged. Interviews are conducted by professionally-trained forensic interviewers and are videotaped to avoid multiple interviews and preserve statements for future legal actions. Children are also able to receive specialized medical services from staff that are familiar with such situations and know how to relate to the children's fears as well as the medical issues specific to this type of trauma. Children and families are offered support, education, and crisis intervention while at the center, and are referred as appropriate for counseling services. In addition, CACs engage in community education to help in the prevention of child abuse and to teach appropriate responses by adults.

"Never doubt that a small group of thoughtful, committed citizens can change the world. Indeed, it is the only thing that ever has."

- Margaret Mead

History

A Child's Voice Child Advocacy Center, Inc., a private 501(c)3 non-profit organization, was established in 2006 as a collaborative effort by different agencies in the child protective services and law enforcement fields of the Alcovy Judicial Circuit, along with the Child Protection Center at Children's Healthcare of Atlanta (CHOA). In December 2008, A Child's Voice CAC relocated to Loganville where we remained until December 2012, when a permanent location was purchased in Social Circle, Georgia. After some renovations, we moved in April 2013 and held an Open House on June 13, 2013. The new location is centralized to our service area and has allowed us more space to provide our services to children in a private and child-friendly setting. In 2018, we acquired additional office space in the same office park to allow us to serve even more families in the same convenient, safe, and confidential manner. In 2009, the center was awarded full membership into the Child Advocacy Centers of Georgia (CACGA), the organization that sets standards and monitors compliance for child advocacy centers in the state of Georgia. Also that year, the Child Abuse Protocol was amended to include participation by A Child's Voice. In 2010, the center received full accreditation from National Children's Alliance (NCA), the national organization that monitors compliance of child advocacy centers across the United States. We have continually maintained full accreditation with both organizations.

Facility

When the children come in with their accompanying involved caregivers, there is a comfortable waiting area with a variety of age-appropriate toys, books, movies, and games.

The center is decorated with an aquatic theme throughout. There is also an interview room, a separate viewing room for law enforcement, child protective services, and/or any other agencies involved, and a private medical exam room. In 2018, we added additional space in the same office park that included a new interview room, observation room, family advocacy space, and other offices so that we can serve more than one family at a time and still provide a confidential and safe place for children and their families.

Telemedicine

Our center continues the relationship with CHOA as a telemedicine location. We were one of the two original locations to implement this use of technology that allows healthcare professionals at our center to conduct audibly and visually, in real time, with a pediatrician at CHOA throughout the process who can respond to parent/guardian questions and concerns.

Telemedicine is a means of using technology to provide or support specialized medical evaluation and care at a distance. The concept of telemedicine is increasing nation-wide and offers many benefits, including:

- Increased availability of medical experts to evaluate and to provide second opinions to children requiring exams
- Reduction in the number of children and professionals traveling to distant locations for medical evaluations
- Improvement in local expert court testimony with subsequent increase in successful court actions
- Opportunity for a unique training experience for local health care providers

Telemental Health

In 2016, A Child's Voice with the Stephanie V. Blank Center for Safe and Healthy Children at CHOA began to provide Tele-Mental health to certain children seen at A Child's Voice. Counselors at CHOA meet with children at our center via a live audio and video link, utilizing a webcam. This allows children the access to “Children who have the support of an understanding caregiver and effective treatment can recover (from abuse) without long-term effects.”

- The National Child Traumatic Stress Network

high quality Trauma Focused Cognitive Behavioral Therapy with no cost to the family, regardless of insurance. This reduces a number of barriers to effective treatment, including cost and travel. It also allows the children to return to our center where they feel comfortable, jumpstarting the therapeutic process, and allows the family advocate to follow-up with the caregivers in person during the appointment.

Family Advocacy

A Child's Voice Child Advocacy Center staff serve as Family Advocates to meet the variety of needs that families present with when they come to our center. The Family Advocates support the family through the entire investigative process and beyond. They are responsible for educating the child and family to know what to expect during their appointment, facilitating a meeting and safety plan with the involved caregiver during their appointment, connects families with needed resources, and strives to ensure that both families and children have the support they need to heal from the abuse. This includes maintaining relationships with counseling centers in order to facilitate effective treatment for child victims and their families (when needed). The Family Advocates provide non-time limited follow-up to families to ensure other needs that arise can be met with resources, and is available to prepare children for, and accompany families to, court if the case goes to trial.

Multidisciplinary Approach

Multidisciplinary teams (MDTs) are groups of professionals from law enforcement, Department of Family and Children Services, counselors, and the District Attorney's Office. Teams from each county served by A Child's Voice in Newton and Walton County, meet once a month to discuss the cases and share information in order to obtain the best outcome for the alleged child victim and his/her family. This teamwork and communication is an essential component of the child advocacy model. When all of the professionals involved in the case are well-informed, they are better able to make decisions that are in the best interest of the children, and readily accessible information increases the chance of successful prosecution of perpetrators.

We also employ the use of the CACGA Collaborate System, which provides us with case tracking and the ability to produce statistical data regarding the work that we do. This system also allows each center in the CACGA network to identify alleged perpetrators from across the state and relate these cases to the current case in our area. This conflict check provides a warning if the name of a victim or alleged offender was previously entered in another county or judicial circuit. Additionally, any professional or multidisciplinary team member involved in a child's case is able to enter data into the system. With the shared data, we are also able to keep track of factors such as high-risk runaways. The system allows for effective accountability and an enhancement of data collection and reporting functions.

Commercial Sexual Exploitation of Children (CSEC) is an increasing issue in the state and locally within our community. Our MDT works together to help identify and screen children for possible victimization. In the case that a child is a victim of CSEC our center provides services for them and refers them for additional services as well.
